

Pharaoh Care's unique arts program is designed to facilitate the budding artist within and to create your own take home masterpiece with the support of professional Indigenous artist, Karen Kirk.

Karen has been artistic since childhood, but it wasn't until later in adulthood that she started to paint on canvas - having quite the portfolio of beautiful artwork.

Karen spends time with her participants, taking time to listen to their stories and then supports them to create their own story through dot painting.

Participants leave with their own unique story displayed for everyone to see.
